

VAX FAIL: Latest omicron variant more likely to infect the VACCINATED, CDC admits

Ethan Huff

(Natural News) Cases of the omicron XBB.1.5 subvariant of covid are rising all across the country, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC). And those most likely to be infected with it are people who took the jab.

Nearly half, or 43 percent, of all new covid cases across the United States are XBB.1.5, while upwards of 73 percent of all new cases in New York City are this particular subvariant – the Big Apple being one of the most fully vaccinated cities in the country.

(Related: More than a year ago, the CDC confirmed that most new cases of the previous circulating strain of omicron also occurred in the fully jabbed.)

Like most other strains of covid, XBB.1.5 is little more than the sniffles for most people, but the government and media continue to make a big deal about it to keep the fearmongering going for as long as possible.

There is also a continued push for people to get “boosted” with the latest injections from Pfizer and Moderna, which are desperate to keep the cash flowing and need a cover story to make that happen.

We are told that the latest jabs only protect against XBB.1.5 for three months, so users will need to continue getting their fix four times annually in order to keep the ever-mutating covid infection at bay.

Getting boosted increases your chances of hospitalization and death

An investigation by The Epoch Times found that people who get injected again and again with the latest experimental covid drugs from Big Pharma are more likely than everyone else to get sick and die.

This is true for XBB.1.5 boosters just as it was for earlier boosters. The common theme is this: the more jabbed you are, the more likely you are to destroy your immune system and see an early grave.

Millions of Americans have woken up to this fact, including many who got the initial two injections but later wized up to the scam. There are still far too many people, however, who believe the drug industry's lies about these jabs providing protection against covid.

Almost nobody who is actively studying these injections and the effects they are having on recipients is still advising that anyone take them. The only entities still pushing the shots are the media, the government, and Big Pharma.

Dr. Peter McCullough and Dr. Robert Malone, whom we cite here often, are both against the shots, advising that people protect their immune systems from this toxic damage.

At this point in time, the "pandemic" is far over. Those who remain unvaccinated are mostly doing just fine, while those who took the initial series of shots are experiencing immune degradation in the form of AIDS, which is why they continue to get sick with the latest variants and subvariants.

Time will tell how many of them survive, but either way the verdict is in: the shots are deadly and should be avoided at all costs.

"Is it possible this is a direct result of the pandemic security measures?" asked a commenter on an Epoch video story about the increased likelihood that the fully boosted succumb to injury or death from XBB.1.5.

“If the world was acting like it used to before the pandemic in 2020, would we really still be seeing so many covid complications? Or is this really just another bioweapon variant stemming from the latest injections?

Another wrote that omicron and its many subvariants is just a vaccine side effects under a different name, which also seems likely in light of all that we now know about what these injections do to the immune system.
